Modern workplaces are evolving. With the freelance economy and remote work growing, traditional offices are becoming less common. The pandemic has forced many businesses to reconsider their office space plans. For some companies working from home has proved to be a successful solution. However, for many others, the home office doesn't provide the same degree of productivity and professional environment that the traditional office does. In recent years, co-working spaces have gained popularity as a prominent solution for businesses looking for a customized professional workplace with a competitive cost. With Creware Coworks, customers can access amenities that will make their work life much easier. These coworking spaces offer a professional environment with all the features of a traditional office but are more flexible and customizable to meet the needs of today's workforce.

Arpit Soni,
 Founder

The pivotal factor that differentiates Creware Coworks from the other providers in this particular segment is rather than just trying to onboard anyone to this platform or office space, the firm evaluates startups so that both parties can mutually benefit from each other. "Three years ago, when I moved to Jaipur, I had a problem finding a good, reliable, and productive coworking space where I could work and get the kind of professional environment I needed. This inspired me to start a coworking space in Jaipur", shares Arpit Soni, Founder, Creware Coworks.

In contrast to tier one cities, Jaipur does not have a lot of coworking spaces. Those currently in place lack that kind of professionalism. As for location, it should be a prime area where people can work without worrying about parking or anything else. Initially, the company had 30 seating coworking space, but they sold out in just three months, giving some motivation for the company to expand to 45 seating spaces. Eventually, the firm expanded to 150+ seating coworking space within Jaipur from the same premises, creating 10,000 square feet of office space. "Jaipur being a tier two city doesn't have a lot of coworking spaces, and most of them are not professionally managed or maintained. We are one of the premium coworking spaces in Jaipur, providing professionally managed, maintained, and operated office spaces", shares Arpit Soni.

Several leading startups have partnered with the firm, including Assocham, Housing.com, Shadowfax, Localfast, and many others. Creware Coworks allows its customers the flexibility to expand or shrink their teams as needed. Additionally, the firm has recently extended its services in Bangalore and is in talks to inaugurate five new branches in Jaipur. The firm is also planning to spread its wings across Chennai, Hyderabad, and multiple tier-two cities.
